Red Horizons (The Phoenix Chronicles) (Volume 4) Matt Roman

500 years have passed since the Fall of the Empire... The pain of the Phoenix Wars is nothing more than a distant memory. In an age of sensationalism and celebrity, those who swore to protect this planet have become tabloid fodder as the eternal Emperor Marcus Orion doles out the secrets of the universe as he sees fit. The battle cry for change is ignored, the frustrations of world deprived boiling over. Tensions run high among those who have been unending visitors. Patience is running thin as the Ixanians wait for their Prodigy to fulfill the Prophecy and finally return them home. For some, however, waiting is no longer an option. In the shadows spark the still burning embers that threaten to set this world on fire and lay waste to all its people. Zavier Orion is a powerful being, his likes never before witnessed. Could Zavier be the savior of both races or their damnation? As Zavier descends into the madness of the Infinite Plains families will be torn apart, friendships will be tested and the darkness of war will once again cast its long shadow against the blood Red Horizons.
